

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

House of the Day

Cricket Lover's London Penthouse

Price: $14,700,000

Location: London, United Kingdom

Type of Home: Penthouse

This three-bedroom apartment, with views of Lord's Cricket Ground in London, includes a 26-foot-high indoor water wall, sauna and roof terrace with two bars and a Jacuzzi. —Nick Clayton

"I've had the place since 1999," said owner Hamish Harding. "All the materials I've used are of absolutely the highest quality, sourced from across the world. In fact, I think I might have gone a bit over the top with the luxury." Photo: Knight Frank

"I bought the apartment off-plan when I saw the block was going to be built," said Mr. Harding. "I worked out which of the penthouses was going to have this, the best mid-wicket view of Lord's Cricket Ground." Photo: Knight Frank

Along with the rest of the duplex penthouse, everything in the ninth-floor media room is controlled by one of 10 iPads. Pressing a single "mood" icon dims the lights, sets the temperature and starts the movie or other entertainment. Photo: Knight Frank

The principal bedroom, on the 10th floor, has 180-degree views west and an en-suite bathroom with two rain-forest showers. Photo: Knight Frank

The bedroom also has its own en-suite sauna. Photo: Knight Frank

The second bedroom, with its horse-hair-fronted wardrobes, looks east toward the City of London, the BT Tower and the London Eye. Photo: Knight Frank

The Pavilion Apartments are located in the northwest London neighborhood of St. Johns Wood. Photo: Knight Frank

The property is listed with Knight Frank for £9.5 million ($14.7 million). Photo: Knight Frank